HYAKEM SOON READY FOR DISTRIBUTION TO CWCE STUDENTS

"The Hyakem will soon be ready for distribution!" Those were the words of the editors, Isabel Monk and Joyce Pugh. "And it will again be a standard size, 8½"x11".

There will be new features, the cover being outstanding. It is an original sketch by Reino Randall, former member of the Art Dept. of CWYC. The final designing of the cover was done by Jean Johnson, art editor.

Don't be surprised to see yourself as you appeared one night about 9:30 in the dormitory or at the Barn Dance in the Women's Gym. And girls, there are snap pages devoted especially to the cadets. George Krieger is responsible for the many snaps of school, army and social life. Pictures of campus scenes recently taken by Mr. Hogue appear throughout the book. This is just a preview of the 1944 Hyakem which is now at the bindery in Seattle. All students that entered fall quarter automatically paid for their annual when they brought their SGA cards. Anyone desiring a yearbook but not possessing an SGA card may secure a book from the Business Office for three dollars.

KAPPA PI INITIATION TO BE HELD TONIGHT

The Kadelphian banquet was held on Tuesday, May 23, at six p. m. in the New York Cafe. About 50 attended. In charge of arrangements were Kathleen Chapman, general chairman, Mildred Carr, program, and Lila Mae Williams, decorations.

The theme of the program was "Make Way for Ducklings."

"Quack, Quack, Quacking," Mr. Blackwood, toastmaster; "Our Last Dive," Evelyn Mathews, retiring president; "Through the Streets," Elizabeth Hosking, retiring adviser; "Newly Hatched," Lia Lucchesi, president-elect; "Water to Swim In," adviser-elect; Vocal solo, Patty Finch; Piano solo, Betty Bennett.

This meeting concludes the year's program for Kappa Delta Pi.

MUSICIANS TO GIVE CONCERT HERE MAY 30

One of the outstanding musical events of the year will be presented May 30 in the College Auditorium when the CWCE Music Department presents its annual spring concert.

The program, including both student and instructor talent, will feature the College Glee Club and the Elementary School Choir and duo piano selections by Miss Davies and Miss Sylliaasen.

Both of the singing groups are under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Moe and will be accompanied by Betty Bennett.

LYOPTIAN BANQUET AND INITIATION HELD

Formal initiation for newly elected Iyoptians was held Thursday evening in Mrs. Hitchcock's apartment. A banquet at the Antlers Hotel followed the initiation. The old and new officers were introduced with Barbara Howard, outgoing president, presiding. Lorraine Focht sang two selections, "Gianinamia," and "One Alone," and Joyce Pugh played two popular selections on the piano, "Darkness on the Delta" and "The Desert Song." Miss Dorothy Dean, adviser, and Barbara Howard were presented with gifts.

WESLEY CLUB HOLDS LAST MEET OF YEAR

Wesley Club, the Methodist campus group, held its last meeting of the year last Sunday. The new officers, president June Eliason and vice president Barbara Wilkinson, were installed. Other officers will be chosen next year.

Thirty-four graduate fellowships and scholarship in the Catholic University of America, ranging in value from $200 to $1,200, are available to qualified under-graduates for the academic year 1944-45.—(ACP).

NEW STAFF MEMBERS FOR CWC ANNOUNCED BY PRES. McCONNELL

President Robert E. McConnell announced Friday, May 19, the appointment of Miss Ruth Slonim, now a member of the staff of the Teachers College at Duluth, Minnesota, as an instructor in English, on the Central Washington College faculty. The vacancy created when N. E. Hinch, veteran member of the English department faculty, retired last fall, will be the one Miss Slonim will fill. She is a graduate of the Duluth Teachers College and holds a master's degree from the University of Minnesota. Beginning with the autumn quarter, she will teach English composition and literature.

President McConnell also announced four resignations from the college and elementary school faculty.

Mrs. Frances Nelson Jones, supervisor of intermediate grades, Miss Mary Egan, critic teacher in the sixth grade, Mrs. Helen Bradbury Fountain, third grade teacher, and Miss Elizabeth Hosking, second grade teacher, have all resigned. Mrs. Jones' and Miss Hosking's positions have not been filled. Miss Lillian Bloomer and Miss Maxine French will move from the fifth to the sixth grades, and the fourth to the fifth grades, respectively. Miss French will be replaced by Mrs. Betty Irish of Flagstaff, Arizona. The fourth grade teacher will be Miss Frances Shuck from Amache, Colorado.

QUIGLEY IS SPEAKER FOR KAPPA DELTA PI

Kappa Delta Pi held its meeting on Monday, May 15, in the Student Lounge. The program consisted of a Forum on the topic "Post War Education." The speakers were Dr. R. E. McConnell and Prof. Harold Quigley. Both speakers gave a very promising outlook. Dr. McConnell spoke of practical plans, with local application. He told of the plans for a new science building to cost about $300,000. Mr. Quigley, speaking specifically for planning in the field of science, told how this expansion in the science department followed the latest educational trend in which there is a feeling that more general understanding of science, of nature immediately around us, will help education to meet better the needs of our people. Officers for the coming year were elected. The new panel reads:

Lia Lucchesi, president; Mildred Carr, vice-president; Ruth Ellingsberg, secretary; Mabel Anderson, treasurer; Shirley Dickson, historian-reporter; Harold Quigley, adviser.

VIRGINIA YOUNG, VENITA MASON WED IN RECENT CEREMONIES

Two Central Washington College coeds, Miss Virginia Young of Yakima, and Miss Venita Mason of Ellensburg, were married this last weekend, on Friday night and Saturday afternoon, respectively.

Miss Virginia Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Young of Yakima, became the bride of Corporal Roy J. Browder May 19 at a simple home ceremony.

The bride, wearing a tailored gold suit with dark brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses, was attended by Miss Betty Hughes, who wore a light blue suit. Miss Hughes' flowers were pale yellow roses. Lyman Young, brother of the bride, was the best man.

Mrs. Browder, former editor of the Campus Crier, was a first quarter sophomore when she withdrew from school a month ago.

Mrs. Browder is planning to make her home in Corvallis, Oregon, near Camp Adair where her husband is stationed.

In the second CWCE wedding of the weekend, Miss Venita Mason, daughter

FORTY-FIVE TO RECEIVE DEGREE OR CERTIFICATE

Forty-five CWCE students will participate in the Commencement exercises June 4, according to an announcement issued by the registrar's office this week.

Of these forty-five twenty-four students will receive their bachelor of arts degrees in education and the other twenty-one will be issued three-year war emergency certificates.

Those receiving degrees in June include: Georgia Immojean Cheek, Anita Goodman, Lois Hammill, R. Elizabeth Lafavour, Evelyn Lois Mathews, Flora Jean O'Neill, Mary E. Vernon, Lila Mae Williams, Betty June Wilson, Ruth Linnea Woods, Peter E. Zook.

Degrees in August will go to: Joan Arbuthnot, Dora M. Brehm, Wadna W. Carell, Betty Jo Champie, Pearl Ireland Cole, Phyllis Jean Goodwin, Elizabeth H. Holappa, George A. Krieger, Evelyn Perry Pierce, Marcella L. Redlinger, Erma Margaret Riess, Lola Mitchell Whitner.

Those students going out on war emergency certificates are: Anna Jean Caldwell, Kathleen Inez Chapman, Nada Doris Clark, Margaret Ferne Daniel, Frieda Helen Dorr, Eva Mae Faust, Charlotte Rae Gaxe, Gwendolyn Madonna Graves, Harriet Lucille Lester, Bertha Helena Longa-Johnson, Dorothy Grace Kinney, Roma Necker, Velma Ruth McConnell, Myrn Elizabeth McFall, Betty Irene Martin, Ella Mae Morrison, Velma Glenys Redden, Ruby Jesimine St. Lawrence, Margaret Ednell Snell, Jean Harriet Stubbs, Carol Louise Wood.

Combined commencement and Baccalaureate exercises will take place in the College Auditorium Sunday, June 4, at 4:00 p. m. A reception for the graduates will follow in the Library.

The Commencement address will be delivered by Wesley J. Renne, Executive Secretary of the Seattle Y. M. C. A.

COMMITTEE PLANS FOR FOURTH OF JULY

Plans are being made by a student-faculty committee for an extensive Fourth of July program for summer school students, faculty members, and their families.

Tentative arrangements include a late breakfast, library open from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., stunts and games with cash prize awards from 1 to 2:30 p. m., picnic dinner (not lunch) at 2:30, more stunts and games following the dinner, and a moving picture in the college (Continued on Page Two)

"THIRTY"

Tuesday night in the Munson Hall "rec" room we held the regular "make up" session of the Campus Crier but this time it was a little different, for it was the last time we would all be working together.

This is the last issue of the paper for the Spring quarter and also the last issue in which I will serve in the capacity of editor.

With the taking over the editorship of the paper in March, we took on a lot of added responsibility and hard work. Don't let anyone tell you that it isn't hard work. But there have been many compensations in the things we have learned from working together, the fun it has all been, and lastly the privilege of working closely with so many activities at CWCE.

The Campus Crier and its fortunes or misfortunes, as the case may be, will always occupy a special place in our hearts. Our deep sympathies and best wishes go out to future editors who will no doubt run into the age-old problems of errant reporters, late copy, and uncommunicative people. They are all part of the game and serve to keep life from settling down down into the well-known rut. May future editors have all the luck in the world.

So this is "thirty" for the year. My very sincere appreciation and deepest thanks go to Wilda Hall and to Mary Frances Leonard, news editor and feature editor extraordinary, who have seen me through so much.

Thanks also to Mary Rowswell for an excellent job as business manager for the year, to Dr. Bullard for so much understanding and helpful advice, and lastly to all reporters.

Thank you all. This has been a great experience we will not forget.

PATRICIA ANDERSON.

CONGRATULATIONS

Justly proud as CWCE is of all her students, this week she is especially proud of a certain 45, the graduates of June, 1944.

Graduation from college at any time is an achievement, but during war time when so many outside influences tend to turn one's eyes from higher education it is even more commendable.

In going out from Central Washington College of Education, you graduates may be sure that you are entering one of the highest types of professional fields there is. Your job is an important one, that of teaching the children of today so that they may fulfill America's destiny tomorrow.

Congratulations, Graduates. CWCE is proud of you.

10 YEARS AGO By Doris Kroger

Student teachers heaved a sigh of relief at the end of the quarter when their practice teaching was a thing of the past. As a final remembrance of those trying days, the 7th grade students were given the following as an English assignment: "Write an article on Student Teachers in which you tell what you think of them, either as a whole, or individually. Give reasons for your opinion." Some reasons given for the approval of student teachers include:

1. They usually give higher grades.
2. They make good friends.
3. They need to learn somewhere.
4. They make mistakes, but so does everyone.

Disapproval was voiced in:

1. Nervousness when facing a class.
2. Lack of knowledge of the subject matter they are teaching.
3. Lack of knowledge concerning how to control a roomful of children.

An innovation in the art of Hyakemaking was started in 1934 when the first sewed book was published. An additional feature of the book was the use of color throughout to add to the variety and attractiveness of the pages.

Teachers had varied plans for the summer months. Miss Dorothy Dean planned to study at Columbia University for six weeks and then spend the rest of the summer in travel. Mr. Barto also planned to study for part of the summer quarter at the University of Idaho. Mr. George Beck, who had been on leave of absence during the academic year doing graduate work at the University of Washington, was to return to his duties on June 10.

Fifty junior and senior students attended the tea and open house given by Dr. and Mrs. McConnell at their home on Sunday afternoon. The tea, in honor of the graduating students, has been an annual affair for some time.

Four faculty members were slated to deliver commencement addresses at high schools in the state. They included Dr. Samuelson, who was to address seniors in Hanford, Centerville, and Klickitat; Prof. Stephens, White Bluffs and Warden; and Dr. Sparks, who was to address the Quincy group.

THE LAY OF THE LAST LOUNGER

Breathes there a girl with a soul so dead,
Who never to herself hath said,
"I think I'll have a coke."
Who, filling quickly this great need,
Runs to the lounge with sudden speed;
There to jitterbug and joke.

If such there breathes, go, mark her well;
She'll soon be in a padded cell!
For she might study and cram all day
But she's got to learn that one must play.
So cheer the student lounge, my gals,
Bless the music, the papers and pals.
Give thanks to the ones who clean the mess
And help them out by making less.
—By Nada Van Alstine.

Bouquets to the professors who give such warm welcomes to our "furloughing" students who are now in the armed forces.

Bouquets to Ella Mae Morrison for her faithful work toward the success of the WAA camping trip.

Boos to the girls in Munson Hall who get the majority of phone calls, yet never answer the floor buzzers.

Boos to the weather man for the un-spring-like weather we are experiencing.

Bridal bouquets to the new bride—Mrs. Venita Heilman.

Bouquets to the students responsible for the success of last Saturday night's dance.

Boos to the seniors who failed to present their promised program at the assembly Tuesday morning.

Bouquets to the juniors who gave such an amusing bit of entertainment Tuesday morning in the Auditorium.

FRAT AUCTIONS PET'S TOMBSTONE

(Associated Collegiate Press)

Auction-goers at Bucknell university, Lewisburg, Pa., were puzzled when the Sigma Phi Epsilon chapter, forced to close because of loss of more than two-thirds of its members to the services, put up for sale one unused tombstone, along with kitchenware, furniture and athletic equipment.

Members of the fraternity explained that when the chapter's pet dog was killed recently a sympathetic alumnus donated a handsome memorial. But the sale came along before the memorial could be erected and Fido's tombstone went for $1.25.

All year long
We've snooped and spied
And told the things
You've tried to hide.

Belles and wedding bells were quite in evidence this past weekend, with Virginia Young's marriage Friday night in Yakima, to Corporal R. J. Browder, and Venita Mason and Bill Heilman's wedding at the Ellensburg Methodist Church Saturday afternoon.

Speaking of weddings and things like that there, we'd like to mention a few of the students who are married or engaged. In our married list there are Elaine Anders, B. J. Royer Meyers, Lois Wheeler Bell, Frances Acers Taylor, Eleanor Bieren, Maxine Hornbrook Stringer, Alice Miller Moltke, Anita Nelson, Kathleen Pryor, Helen Conant, Wilma Wymer, Mary Jane Omelina, and our two latest—Virginia Young Browder and Venita Mason Heilman.

Our engagees consist of Virginia Adolf, Louise Tilley, Madelyn Gordon, Mavis Maxey, Betty June Wilson, Lynn Leavell, Hazel Foisy, Isabel Monk, Char Gaze, Anne Iverson, Joyce Powelson, Shirley Dickson, Rita Rose, Eda Esses, Evelyn Matthews, Barbara Williams, Betty Lou Baker.

Staggering isn't it? There's more, too, but unfortunately we have to rush on with other little matters. We're going to reminisce a bit, and why don't you string along with us? Remember some of those famous twosomes? There were: Norma and Bill Verna and Ginsberg, Ella Mae and B. B., Norma Alexander and Bob Pickney, M. F. and the Major, Dooley Honey and Francis, Adel and Sid, Meyers and Hull. Yi! There's a lot of them. Just what is it that coeds come to college for? Education? You bet!

There were some other little deals the past year here at CWCE that were very interesting. Do you happen to recall that Homer-B. J.-Lucadello triangle? Or the Wingert-Simmons-Kiddoo-Patterson rectangle? Things have never been dull.

Did you folks happen to see that blue and white braid on an overseas cap that was walking down the street Saturday afternoon with Barbara Farley? It was 23 S(Kiddoo) himself returned to his old haunts from Camp Adair where he is now stationed.

Wave the flag! Or just Wave, anyhow. Yep, our onlyest Helen Hines of Sue Lombard is ajoinin' up with that feminine part of the Navy some time in July or August. We think she ought to look pretty neat in that snitzy uniform that goes with the job. How about it?

We've neglected to mention a couple of very contented couples on the campus here, Earle Howard and Leah

IT SAYS HERE

That the song of the week is "Long Ago and Far Away." It was number one on the Hit Parade this past week and is invading the list of song favorites on the CWC campus. We wish we knew whether it was the words or the way that Frank Sinatra sings this melody that has made it such a favorite here lately.

That the suggestion of the week is to make up your minds here and now to come back to good old CWC next fall. Being as this is the last issue of the Crier this year we want to put in a last word and say, "We'll see you all again next fall with bigger and better things to come, and have lots of fun on your your vacation."

That the idea of the week is writing term papers. Everywhere we go these days we hear people saying, "Don't disturb me; I'm writing a term paper!" There's something fascinating about a term paper—and the comment of the instructor when you don't get it in on time.

That the coed of the week is Mary Frances Leonard.

Dark haired, dark eyed vivacious Mary Frances is a freshman from Tacoma where she attended Lincoln High School.

During her first two quarters at CWCE she was an indispensable reporter on the Campus Crier and for the last quarter she has been even more indispensable in the role of feature editor. Her training in that capacity on the Lincoln News of Lincoln High School has stood her in good stead.

All this, coupled with one of the sweetest grins you could ever see and her perennial good nature makes it easy to see why Mary Frances Leonard has been chosen as the coed of the week.

Downey, and George Krieger and Eda Esses. Anyway, they look happy to us. Anybody would look happy to us, cause we're extremely sad. It's ten o'clock and we have at least four more hours work to complete before we can climb into our cages for the night.

Kathy Lou, aged eight days, weighing five pounds and thirteen ounces, is the light of Mary Frances' life. M. F. is now a proud aunt and she is passing out free cigars to any and all who will form a line to the left and listen to a detailed description of the wee tyke.

We see that "Pixie" Poney and "Shiny" Aini are still having one swell time together. Nicpics, shows, g-c-ing (guzzling cokes) and telephone calls constitute for the most part their delishus times.

Frances Acers Taylor had a unique experience this week when she received one of her own letters. It was inside another envelope with a little note explaining that it had been received by the wrong Lt. Taylor, who also has a wife named Frances. We'll bet F. T. will be the most careful letter-addresser in the whole wide world from now on.

All year long
We've snooped and spied.
And now we're gonna
Go and hide.

"A MOTHER'S WAY"

By SHIRLEY MERRITT

Mrs. Barker sat looking out her living room window, watching the young people playing ball in the middle of the street. It was at times like this that she was the loneliest. A tight, hard knot swelled up in her breast and she fought hard to keep the tears back. Was it nearly five years ago that her boys, Bob and Dave, used that very street for the same purpose? It seemed like only yesterday that she could hear their cries and shouts of laughter.

But they were both gone now. Gone overseas, fighting for their country. Their country, she thought, what do they know about their country? They were still babies. What if Dave was 21 and six-foot-two, and Bob 19? The only country they really knew was right here in their own home town; their own school, the city park, the playground, and Castle's Drug downtown where they went after every school affair for soft drinks. Oh, of course, they had been out of town often enough. Once Bob went with the football team to play Butte, and was gone from home for nearly two weeks.

She heaved a sigh. She had planned so much for her boys. Dave, with all his seriousness, so like his father, was to have become a doctor. He would eventually marry little Peggy Stevens down the street. She had always worshipped Dave, and would make a good wife.

But Bob, she smiled quietly as she thought of him. He was still at that mischievous age without a serious thought in his blonde, curly head. She thought of the latest snapshop she had received from him. So proud in his "navy blues," but with that horrible crew cut.

Well, he was probably happy. But she could still recall how he used to stand in front of his mirror for hours, brushing frantically, trying to make his hair lie down or straighten out. How he used to fight when the fellows at school called him "Curly." Well, it was straight enough now, and too short to curl.

Why, there was the mailman coming up the walk. He hadn't stopped at Mrs. Baker's for over a week. She pushed herself from her rocker with surprising energy and went quickly to the door.

"Howdy, Miz Barker. Yes, ma-am, you got a letter from that young whippersnapper, Dave. Didn't know he was back in the States. Looky here; postmarked New York City. Good news, I hope."

"Back in the States? Let me have it! My goodness! I'm so nervous, I can hardly open it. Oh, I hope he can come home. He's made his forty missions over Germany, you know. Let's see—here it is: 'Will arrive home Tuesday. Don't know for sure about the time. Have Peg for dinner, won't you, Mom? I want both of my girls together when I get home. Love, Dave. P. S. Don't forget the apple pie.'"

"That's sure fine, Miz Barker. It will be good to see young Dave again. Ain't seen him since he got that second bar on his shoulder. You must be mighty proud of him."

"Proud? Why, yes, I gues I am. I never really thought of it that way before. Land sakes! I'd better start bustling. Tomorrow's Tuesday, and I've got an apple pie to bake."

CRIMSON WARRIORS

Recently commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps Reserve at Quantico, Virginia, was Harold H. Berndt of Tacoma, a '43 graduate of C. W. C. E.

While a student here, "Hal" was prominent in football and track. He performed capably as a halfback for

HAROLD BERNDT

Phil Sarboe's '42 league champs. In track he was outstanding in the sprints and proved his ability by taking high point honors (20½) when Central won the Conference field and track championship for the second consecutive time last spring. Although he has graduated, Hal's exploits as an athlete will long be remembered on this campus.

ing students at Central. Don, known to his friends as "Baldy," came to C. W. C. E. as a graduate of Seattle's Cleveland High School, where he was prominent in athletics. While here, he won his big "W" in both football and basketball. As a fitting climax to his college athletic career, Captain Don Harney of Central's '42 football champions, was named to the All-League team at guard position. His versatility is proved even further by the fact that he served as president of the Junior class.

OFF-CAMPUS CLUB CLEANS ROOM

Say, you gals who stroll down the west side of the Ad. Building, have you taken a look at those Off-Campus Club room windows? Yes, siree, a small amount of Bon Ami (plus a larger amount of elbow grease) did the trick!

Once you've had that eye-ful we know you'll want to come inside and see what really has been going on. Inside those windows hang lovely, crisp drapes, just back from the cleaners; gay, floral covers are on the chairs; and a lovely new picture hangs above the davenport. A little rearranging of the furniture and a little polish surely worked wonders.

The Off-Campus Women thought this an ideal way to climax a very successful year, both socially and financially.

Special thanks go to Velma Evens, Fernie Daniel, Jean Henderson, and Patty Pyle, who gave so freely of their time and talents in assisting the Council. And, by the way, that table in the room, used by the Red Cross, looks much neater after these girls had hold of it.

WAA GIRLS SPEND NIGHT IN WOODS ON CAMPING TRIP

Twenty-five members of the Women's Athletic Association, accompanied by their adviser, Miss Jess Puckett, and Miss Ruth Redmond and Miss Helen Michaelson, enjoyed the annual overnight camping trip which was held last week-end. Taneum park, a portion of the Wenatchee National Forest was the scene of the most outstanding event sponsored by the club this year.

There are always many incidents on a trip such as this that the girls will never forget. Such things as Tazna (Lucille) Trucano precariously swinging on the tip of a very tall tree while the others were wondering if the river below would be a safe landing ground.

The large log that Wanda Pederson and Verna Lindell carried down for the fireplace. And we mean down a hill that was straight up.

The good food we had and how much fun it was to eat around the huge fireplace.

Betty Higley insisting a real cook, or someone that could cook, be left at camp instead of letting both Home Economic teachers go on the hike.

If style shows had been in order, Hazel Foisy with her strictly G. I. dress would have carried away honors. The fatigues with Mignacco written across the back and the nice leather flying jacket were really O. K., but not as good as that Mother Hubbard she wore Friday night.

PROF GETS GIFT FROM SOUTH SEAS

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Covered with postage stamps and a yard of APO cancellations, a 10-pound block of teak-wood—and a strange request—came recently to Walter T. Rolfe, professor of architecture at the University of Texas, from a former student "somewhere in the Southwest Pacific."

The student, Adolph Brude, remembered Dr. Rolfe's hobby for carving in fine woods. Now a carpenter's mate with the Seabees, Brude sent the teak-wood block with this note: "I'd give all the teakwood where I am for a sack of Texas pecans!"

"And," declares Mr. Rolfe, "he's going to get 'em, too!"

WORLD HIGHLIGHTS

Monday, May 15—A large German convoy off the Norwegian port of Kirkenes was attacked by Soviet airmen. Three enemy transports, totalling 19,000 tons and several naval vessels were sunk. It is believed that the Russians are planning their big summer offensive, for action has been considerably less on the Ukrainian, Estonian and Polish fronts. The French advanced as much as seven miles from the take-off point on the Fifth army right wing and captured the important town of Ausonia, making a break in the Germans' Gustav line in southern Italy.

Tuesday, May 16—The Chinese high command announced that Chinese troops have taken several strategic points in an advance west of the Salween river in the new offensive to open a way to India. General Douglas MacArthur's spokesman reported that the Australian troops were advancing unopposed toward the last Japanese stronghold on the northeast shoulder of New Guinea.

Wednesday, May 17—American-made Wildcats and Hellcats operating from carriers, escorted by ships of the British home fleet scored hits on German shipping off Norway and smashed at shore installations northeast of Stadlandet. Oil tanks and fish oil factory were hit in the attack. American planes struck fuel shortage facilities runways and enemy buildings in the eastern Marshall islands.

Thursday, May 18—Allied troops seized Cassino and the Monastery hill and the coastal hinge city of Formia in a double victory. The Allied command, in announcing the fall of Cassino, declared that "The Gustav line now has ceased to exist." In 2½ years of war, the Army air forces have destroyed 6,154. Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Still destroyed 20,174 enemy planes against a well's American and Chinese soldiers, in a spectacular jungle maneuver climaxing a forced march over rugged terrain, toppled the important air-drome of Myitkyina.

Friday, May 19—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed the story of the mass German escape from a war prison camp near Dresden on March 25. 47 RAF officers were shot by the 76 German officers. Fifteen of the

THERE'S
for planning travel
in wartime

A little extra care, a little extra foresight will make your travel plans work out better for you—and for wartime transportation! Your Washington Motor Coach System agent can give you some valuable tips.

Get advance information . . . don't go by guesswork

Arrange your plans and get your schedule information well ahead of time to avoid delay and disappointment.

By-guess-and-by-gosh traveling causes unnecessary inconvenience and may mean missed connections.

Travel in mid-week . . . not on crowded week-ends

When possible, plan to leave and return on mid-week days when more seats are usually available.

Week-end and Holiday travel may mean depriving service men of transportation at the only times they can go.

Arrive at Terminal early . . . avoid last-minute confusion

You can help wartime travel by being early—allowing time to arrange baggage and other details.

Delay in returning to your bus at lunch and rest stops slows up service needlessly.

Travel light today . . . be sure to mark baggage

Take along less baggage—to save space and avoid unnecessary handling.

Put a tag or sticker with your name and home address outside or inside each bag.

CARR DECORATED

Captain Bobb Carr, Marine dive bomber pilot now in this country after a long period of duty in the Pacific, was awarded the Air Medal and received a citation for a Gold Star in lieu of a second award of the Air Medal. His citations in brief are as follows: Air Medal—For meritorious achievement while participating in aerial attacks against the enemy as pilot of a dive bomber attached to a Marine aircraft group operating in the Solomon Islands area. Gold Star—(the same as the Air Medal, but with added comments) "—his constantly accurate dive bombing contributed materially to the damaging blows inflicted upon the enemy's installations, and his conduct throughout was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service." Both of his citations were signed by Admiral Halsey, Commander of the South Pacific area and the South Pacific force.

Captain Bob Carr's brother, First Lt. Charles (Chuck) Carr, Marine fighter pilot, was promoted to a captain's rank and reached Los Angeles en route home on leave after more than 13 months' duty in the Pacific. Captain Dick Bacon, like the Carr brothers a former Ellensburg High School and Central Washington College athlete, also has reached Los Angeles on leave.

HERODOTEANS ELECT OFFICERS

The Herodoteans, history honorary, will culminate the year's activities with an annual Beaneed to be held in the City Park tonight. The new members will be initiated at that time.

The last business meeting of the club was held May 23, at which time Betty Lou Baker, senior from Ellensburg, was elected president for the coming year. Other officers will be elected next year. Mr. Barto's resignation as adviser of the club was accepted, and Dr. Samuel Mohler of the history department was elected to this position.

For the past quarter the club has been concentrating its efforts on aiding Dr. Mohler in his collection of materials for the book he is writing on the history of Central Washington College of Education. Mr. Glenn Hogue of the college faculty and long time resident of Ellensburg gave an interesting talk on the history of the college since he has been here. He had some excellent pictures to show the club. The club also had the opportunity to visit the Smith sisters' home about three miles out of the city. This house was built in 1876 and holds many articles of pioneer days.

Officers for the past year were: Phyllis Goodwin, president; Erma Riess, vice president; Velma Redden, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Harold Barto, adviser.

prisoners were captured alive and there are still fourteen of them at large. U. S. tanks and French troops broke into the very center of the Hitler line in a smash toward Sant' Oliva which is only four miles from Pico on the lone road supplying the Nazi front.

Saturday, May 20—American bombers, taking advantage of a break in foggy weather, sped across the north Pacific Thursday night to bomb Paramushiro, the Navy reported. Large fires in air field installations were the results of the surprise bombing. Three blows against the Japanese were made: (1) A Nimitz-Mountbatten-MacArthur team steamed into the heart of Japan's Dutch East Indies holdings and bombed Soerabaja. (2) American and Chinese troops were driving the enemy out of their Myitkyina garrison. (3) Large landings on Wadke island, 110 miles west of

STUDENTS TELL POST WAR PLANS FOR WAR BONDS

(ACP)

Cincinnati has an answer to the question of what civilian and soldier students at its municipal University of Cincinnati plan to do a decade from now with proceeds from their war bonds. Cincinnati News Record, campus newspaper, made a survey and reports most of those contacted have definite plans, some on the lighter side but many of them predominantly serious.

University co-eds were found in general to look forward to the day they can marry and buy homes. These co-eds have sold more than $150,000 worth of bonds.

And the soldiers, in general, expect the bonds to finance their college educations.

There will be great numbers of shiny new convertibles, jeeps, and airplanes if the students don't change their minds in the next decade, and the car of the future will be red.

One G. I. student is thinking of the day when he can buy the biggest bathtub available and soak for a week; others want to retire and relax for the rest of their lives, and another hopes his bonds will furnish a few of the bare necessities of life, including a tennis court, swimming pool, and private beach.

Co-eds who don't want to settle down to a married career indicate a yen to travel, some planning to watch and aid reconstruction in Europe and the Orient.

"One thing is certain," the newspaper says: "At the close of this war Cincinnati students are going to gratify most of the wishes they have been storing up during the duration."

KAPPA PI NEWS

The Art club has spent a busy week after their successful Art Bazaar. A work meeting was held Monday night where orders were finished up and plans made for the initiation of Anna Jean Caldwell to be held Thursday night. The initiation will take place at the home of the advisor Miss Walter and will be followed by a party for new and old members.

Dr. C. B. Judah, head of the history department at New Mexico Highlands university, is author of a new historical novel, "Tom Bone," published by William Morrow & Co., New York. (ACP.)
